

CLL 345 : Linguistics

Introduces students to the nature of human language: its use, evolution and diversity. Approaches language as a system of communication and human behavior. Provides students practice in using certain basic skills when thinking about language: analyzing data, making generalizations, proposing hypotheses, providing argumentation and formulating proposals.

Credits 3

Attributes

Alternate Year

Required for the major

Upper-Level