

CLL 407 : Translation:Theory & Practices

Students consider a range of issues in translation, such as comparative stylistics, machine translation, and gender in translation. In addition to readings, discussion, and research on particular aspects of translation, students design and carry out individual and group translation projects. May be team taught with other languages.

Credits 3

Attributes

Cross listed

Diversity International

Upper-Level