

AAAS 359 : African Democracy & Dictatorship

Explores the evolution of African dictatorship and asks whether democracy in sub-Saharan Africa is substantially different than democracy elsewhere in the world. Considers whether African countries' experimentation with different forms of governance — from civilian to military rule, from one-party states to multiparty democracies — has resulted in better governance.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

POLS 105

Attributes

Alternate Year

Cross listed

Pre-req

Upper-Level

Cross Listed

POLS 259