

AAAS 352 : Politics of Africa

Investigates the unique situation of African countries in terms of economics and international relations, with a focus on development (economic and human development) and conflict and cooperation both on the continent and between the region and the rest of the world. Taking a thematic approach, the course offers an overview of the central debates on these crucial questions and invites students to focus on how all these issues play out in one country of their choice. (Politics Subfield Designation: IR) (A.R.T.S Designation: S)

Credits 3

Prerequisites

POLS 111: Intro to Comparative Politics & International Relations

Attributes

Diversity International

Alternate Year

Cross Listed

AAAS 352