AAAS 359 : African Democracy & Dictatorship

Explores the evolution of African dictatorship and asks whether democracy in sub-Saharan Africa is substantially different than democracy elsewhere in the world. Considers whether African countries’ experimentation with different forms of governance — from civilian to military rule, from one-party states to multiparty democracies — has resulted in better governance.

Credits  3
Prerequisites
POLS 105
Attributes
Alternate Year
Cross listed
Pre-req
Upper-Level
Cross Listed
POLS 259