AAAS 366 : African American Political Thought

Introducing various dimensions of African American political thought, this course surveys texts in African American intellectual history to examine how they redefine important political concepts such as identity, power, institution, state, citizenship, freedom and community.

Credits 4
Attributes
Cross listed
Social Sciences
Upper-Level
Cross Listed
POLS 366